Report France, Red China Diplomacy Seen

Matter Discussed but Nothing Decided Yet, Foreign Official Says

Paris — Reports circulated in Paris today that moves are under way to open a form of diplomatic relations between France and Communist China. "The matter has been discussed," a foreign office official said, "but nothing has been decided."

The reports appeared yesterday and today in a number of Paris newspapers. One said no concrete steps will be taken until after the meeting in Paris July 5 between Premier Charles DeGaulle and Secretary of State Dulles.

France, like the United States, does not recognize Red China. France is a member of Chincom, an organization of all North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations except Iceland which regulates trade with Peiping in articles of strategic importance. Japan also is a member.

Revising List

Chincom is in the process of revising the strategic list and is expected to announce the changes within the next few weeks.

Paris newspapers said there is little likelihood that France will accord outright recognition to Red China. They attributed some of their information to diplomatic circles in London.

"But a permanent economic mission will be established in the Chinese capital," the Paris Journal said. "I will have the task of itemizing the Chinese requests that France could satisfy, in comparison with the interests of Chincom."

In general, Red China's trade takes the form of purchases abroad of precision instruments and machinery needed to establish heavy industries. Peiping's exports have been primarily coal, iron ore, soybeans, rice and other agricultural products.

France has little need of any foodstuff from China, and gets most of its coal from Europe and the United States.

Wants Special Counsel For Ike to be Witness

cused of not filing required financial reports in 1948-1955.

Adams said Morgan obtained the information from Thomas C. Meeker, SEC's general counsel, but asked for no favors. The information was not passed on to Goldfine, Adams said, and Meeker was not informed of Adams' interest in it.

Bonn Embassy Under Attack

a side entrance of the embassy.

(Independent reports to London said Frankel's camera was smashed. The demonstration in Bonn, which provoked the one in Moscow, was to protest the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy and others who took power in the anti-Soviet revolt in Hungary in 1956.

(A similar retaliatory demonstration was staged Friday before the Danish embassy in Moscow.)

The demonstrations began at 9:45 a.m. and lasted more than two hours. The correspondents estimated the crowd of men and women, many carrying banners urging "down with provocateurs" at more than 500 as the demonstration began. This later swelled to nearly 1,500.

For the first few minutes the er Adams might be recalled for further testimony. He said Adams would be asked to return if "conditions and circumstances arise that make it necessary or advisable."

Harris said the record developed so far shows that Goldfine received preferential treatment from both the SEC and the FTC.

A new statement came yesterday from Edward F. Howrey, former chairman of the FTC. Howrey already has denied in testimony that Goldfine got any preferred treatment in a misleading case against a Goldfine woolen mill in 1953-1954.

demonstrations contented themselves with chanting anti-German slogans and waving banners mounted on heavy sticks.

Windows Smashed

Then the first ink-filled bottle spread its blue contents against the upper embassy wall. A barrage of bottles, stones and bricks followed amidst the crashing of glass. A handful of Soviet militiamen on duty at the embassy ran back and forth blowing whistles and shouting.

As the windows of the first floor shattered under the first hail of stones and bricks, members of the crowd dashed forward. They hurled more ink and their slogan-covered banners through glassless windows into embassy offices.

Several members of the crowd, which included students and workers ranging from teen-agers to a middle-aged one-legged man on crutches, walked the length of the building.

Disregarding the barrage of stones around them, they kicked out the basement windows one by one.

A half hour after the attack began, a line of blue-clad militiamen suddenly emerged from one side of the embassy and attempted to push the crowd back.

The crowd around the building swelled steadily as the demonstration nevertheless went on. Many people from a nearby park joined in.

One faction of the demonstrators moved to a side wall of the embassy and quickly smashed the windows with stones.

Others outside threw stones over the embassy gates at automobiles parked inside.

German Ambassador Hans Kroll drove up to the embassy just as the first demonstrators

'Confidential' Plans For Lincoln Birthday Are Termed Mistake

Washington — The "Confidential" label placed on plans to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday has been blamed on an anonymous government secretary.

"She apparently did it on her own initiative. She thought she was doing the right thing, but she had no authorization to do it," said Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky), chairman of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial commission.

The problem was settled and the blame established at a meeting of the commission's executive board Saturday. Cooper said he didn't know the name of the Library of Congress shorthand reporter involved.

The meeting last month lined up outside. His car was not molested. As he drove inside the gates were quickly closed behind him.

German officials said Kroll had protested immediately to the Soviet foreign secretary and notified the Bonn government by telephone of the attack.

After two hours, mounted policemen moved in and began slowly breaking up the demonstration.

However, members of the commission greeted with mixed grins and snorts of indignation copies of the minutes with the label "confidential information for members of the commission."

Lebanon Holds 'Check,' Military Aid Promise

Good for Anglo-American Forces in Civil War; Question When to Cash It

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Beirut, Lebanon — The central but still half-concealed future of the Lebanese situation is what amounts to an uncashed certified check in the desk of President Camille Chamoun. Figuratively speaking, the check is marked "good for a landing of Anglo-American military forces to defend Lebanon's independence." It was written by the British and American governments, after only 24 hours of agonized consultation, at the very outset of the Lebanese civil war.

At that time, a major condition was attached to the check. Before it could be cashed, the Lebanese government was required to complain to the United Nations about the attack upon its independence that has been organized by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser and his Syrian viceroy, Abdel Hamid Serraj.

Lebanese President Chamoun and his stout old prime minister, Samy El Solh, were and are reluctant to cash the check.

Their reluctance was sufficiently indicated by the very long interval between the outbreak of fighting in this unhappy little country and the presentation of Lebanon's complaint to the U. N. Security council.

U. N. border control is hardly feasible, and it can only limit the problem and can not possibly solve it.

The American and British governments must have understood all this very clearly when they so eagerly accepted the Swedish resolution. They must have wanted to buy a little more time during which "something might turn up." The spirit of Mister Micawber was behind this move, in fact.

Here in Lebanon, meanwhile, the American and British embassies have been trying to make something turn up, while simultaneously seeking to delay the cashing of the check.

Appeals to Commander

The efforts to make something turn up have chiefly taken the form of direct and indirect appeals to the Lebanese army commander, Gen. Shehab, to make a more serious effort to repress the rebellion. The massiveness of the foreign intervention, plus the large number of centers of revolt, have quite possibly combined to make a problem that is beyond the resources of Lebanon's 9,000-man army.

All the same, a suspicion that Gen. Shehab is not making an intelligent military effort is surely justified.

On Sunday, for example, when the fighting here in Beirut looked like it was getting out of hand, the able American ambassador, Robert McClintock, was here, slippery Saeb Salam had to go to the general's command and ask his intentions to telephone the army chief of staff. When he got there, the general greeted him with the amiable explanation that "Sunday was a day of rest." By the same token, after the rebels in Beirut had looted and burned the house of Prime Minister Samy that Gen. Shehab will lead a major charge against the rebel barricades. All the same, American and British influence has been steadily applied throughout the past week, to

Protectionism Suffers a Setback

The surprising vote, 317 to 98, by which the House of Representatives passed the administration's reciprocal trade bill may mark the beginning of a new era in United States foreign economic policy. Even if the Senate waters down the measure there no longer is any doubt that Congress will pass some renewal of the trade program. Even more important, the House vote shows the kind of support advocates of freer trade can muster when they work at it.

During a large part of this country's history a belief in free trade was popularly attributed only to college professors and southern cotton planters. Much of our industry was built up behind the protection of tariff barriers, and thus industry — and the people who work for it — has traditionally been protectionist in its sentiments. The tariff bloc's power reached its peak in the early 1930's with the passage of the highly protectionist Smoot-Hawley law.

But in recent years a considerable change has taken place in the lineup for and against tariffs. More and more of our industries have found an increasing proportion of their business coming from other countries; exports have become an important ingredient in the American economy. Since foreigners can buy from us only if they have dollars, these industries have tended to support measures which would provide them with those dollars, such as freer trade and foreign aid.

For many years this country has exported a great deal more than it has imported, and that has had two important results. One is that higher tariffs — which eventually would slow down trade from both directions — thus would injure more Americans than they would help since more U. S. workers depend on exports than are being displaced by imports. The other is that such a trade imbalance results in a drain on other countries' dollar reserves, and this could not have gone on for long had not we made up the difference in foreign aid, money spent by our military overseas, and U. S. investment in other lands.

Whatever one's feelings on the subject, it is impossible to ignore the fact that the idea of free trade is becoming more popular in America, partly because we feel an instinctive need to develop economic relations with other peoples with whom we must have good political relations, partly because so many of our own industries are looking for new markets in which to sell their wares. The vote in the House, in a year in which protectionist sentiment was supposed to be riding high, is a sign, we think, of things to come. People who are deeply involved, either through investment or employment, in industries which depend heavily on tariff protection should be seeking opportunities to diversify their risks, for it is a stern fact that political support for tariffs is not what it used to be.

The Relief Amendment

The legislature showed courage and perception, it seems to us, in resisting the fictitious complaints of those who have asserted that the 1957 law requiring residence as a qualification for public assistance in this state was harsh, discriminatory and unusual.

The message of Gov. Thomson put the issue well. As long as the vast majority of the other states in the country have such requirements, this state must protect itself against the relief demands of indigent migrants, he said. The Democratic minority in our legislature that howled with such mournful fury on this question conveniently overlooked the fact that Democrats in other state capitals have enacted precisely the same restrictions for the protection of their constituents, and that these other Democrats have stood up against other emotional appeals to do away with such rules.

The legislature with the governor's approval made one important change in the new statute, to plug a loophole that was clearly inadvertent. There never was any intention to punish bona fide Wisconsin residents by removing their assistance eligibility here before they had complied with the eligibility requirements of other states to which they may move.

Potato Grading Law Is Rejected

The potato producers and handlers of Wisconsin by an overwhelming vote have turned down a plan to have the state approve and enforce quality standards, marketing methods, grades and other factors relating to the sale of potatoes produced in the state.

The potato business in Wisconsin has sagged considerably during the last 25 years. The Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation persuaded the last legislature to adopt marketing legislation. The law provided that the new rules could be invoked only if approved in a referendum by at least two-thirds of the growers and handlers. It was further provided that the two-thirds must represent at least 51 per cent of the state's total potato production.

The potato farmers again have demonstrated the individualist spirit characteristic of those who till the soil. However, the rejection of the marketing plan leaves the Wisconsin potato producers right where they were with respect to their marketing problems. Idaho has made a success of potato growing largely because the growers of that state have accepted marketing regulations such as were proposed here.

Housewives selecting Idaho potatoes know what they are getting in quality. Many Wisconsin people and no doubt many in other states prefer Wisconsin potatoes. But the grade labeling on Wisconsin potatoes doesn't mean the same thing in all cases. Thus purchasers of Wisconsin potatoes are never sure of first quality even though the label on the bag may be so marked.

Many consumers will be disappointed by the rejection of this law. The consumers were not consulted in the matter and are helpless to do anything about it except what they have been doing in making selections at the stores.

The provisions of the law may have been too severe, or the voters may have included too many small growers who have relatively little invested in the potato business. Whatever the reason, the proposal has failed and Wisconsin potatoes will continue to have difficulties in the market places.

No Need for U. S. Limit On Travel

From the Kansas City Star.

The United States is imitating the communists with travel restrictions on the few Russians who come to this country. The only reason for placing many U. S. cities and whole areas off-limits is retaliation. And this is the weakest of reasons. It is reported that the limitations were imposed at the request of U. S. diplomats in Moscow who were irritated by restraints on their movements.

Our government has proposed a mutual lifting of restrictions. Last fall the Russians completely ignored a formal offer to throw open all closed areas in the two countries. So now in response to reported hints from Soviet officials, a more limited arrangement has been suggested. Russia hasn't replied yet.

This kind of offer has merit if the United States gets something in return. But if not, our restrictions serve no purpose. Why not tell the world — in loud and triumphant terms for a change — that the United States has nothing to hide? Why not knock out the retaliatory action completely? Of course Russian visitors couldn't go to secret defense installations. But there are few of these and the average American isn't allowed to visit them either.

The Soviet government doesn't trust most of its own people, let alone curious Americans. The extreme "security" measures enforced by the Kremlin are a mark of the basic insecurity that afflicts Russia's leaders. But we don't have to ape their weaknesses.

Public Works Can Contribute To Business

From the Birmingham, Ala., News.

Really needed public works which can be soundly financed and gotten under way promptly can contribute to the stimulation of business in time of decline and well serve community progress. Such projects should, of course be wisely conceived and executed.

Many cities have need for public works of this kind. Last month the senate approved a billion-dollar fund for federal loans to municipalities for construction of local public facilities. Now the house banking committee has approved a bill authorizing a $2 billion program of loans.

Action of this kind should be well based and planned, but the general idea is good.

Praise Allah and Pass the Ammunition

Larger Newspapers Feel Adams Has Lost Usefulness, Should Quit

By The Associated Press

Many of the newspapers that supported Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency have split on the issue of whether he should retain Sherman Adams as his chief White House aide.

The tone of many — but not all — of the Adams-should-go editorials in pro-Republican newspapers has been moderate. On the other hand, two prominent papers which supported the retention of Adams did so in vigorous, almost vehement terms.

Democratic papers generally called for Adams' ouster.

Adams admitted accepting gifts from industrialist Bernard Goldfine and making certain telephone calls inquiring into government matters concerning Goldfine.

Eisenhower, while saying he thought his assistant might have been imprudent, voiced full confidence in the flinty New Englander and said he would retain him.

Tucson Daily Citizen
An example of temperate comment by a paper favoring Adams' resignation came from the Tucson, (Ariz.) Daily Citizen, which supported Eisenhower:

"Even though he may be a martyred victim of circumstances, Mr. Adams can render final great service to the president by resigning."

One of the more vehement advocates of Adams' resignation was the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, which supported Eisenhower in both his 1952 and 1956 campaigns:

Nashville Banner
"If his (Adams') resignation is not immediately forthcoming voluntarily it should be sought by the president — who cannot possibly condone an incident that nauseates the nation."

New York Daily News
The New York Daily News, also a 2-time Eisenhower supporter, commented in the same vein:

"We think the president should reconsider his refusal to leave Adams — or, if Gen. Ike can't bring himself to do that, Adams, touted as a shrewd politician, should act like one in his own case and resign."

Macy Papers
The eight pro-Eisenhower newspapers of the Macy chain in heavily Republican Westchester county, near New York City, had this to say:

"The only amends that Mr. Adams can make is through the submission of his resignation."

Life Magazine
An editorial in Life magazine, which supported Eisenhower in both his campaigns, said of Adams: "However regrettable it may be in many ways, his resignation is the best way to insure the principle (of morality in government) continuance."

On the other side of the political fence, the strongly Democratic New York Post, anti-Eisenhower, in both elections, struck a sorrowful note:

New York Post
"The fact is," said the Post, "that Adams is out on a limb. Even though the president has expressed unshaken confidence in him, it is unlikely that Adams can get down without jumping from the White House to political anonymity . . . the melancholy truth is that the prestige of the presidency has suffered a most serious blow."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch
The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, anti-Eisenhower in both campaigns, said of Adams:

"We think his usefulness to the president is ended, and that the president makes a serious mistake, after adopting such a high moral tone on governmental ethics, to condone his assistant's conduct."

Washington Evening Star
The Washington Evening Star, which gave Eisenhower campaign support said:

"If Mr. Adams keeps his office a certain sanction will have been given to a double standard of ethics. And it is perfectly obvious that Mr. Adams will be a major political liability to the administration . . ."

N. Y. Herald Tribune
One of the most strongly-worded of editorial comments was that of the Republican New York Herald Tribune. The newspaper, pro-Eisenhower in both elections, said:

"No leader since Washington has had such universal respect and admiration (as Eisenhower) . . . for five years, Sherman Adams has been the indispensable right arm of the president. He still is. The president wishes him to remain so. Accordingly, he should . . . The president and Mr. Adams can now get back to work."

St. Louis Globe-Democrat
The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, which supported Eisenhower both in 1952 and 1956, praised Adams extensively:

"He certainly should remain in government. Gov. Adams is a man of limitless energy and extraordinary ability. In these trying times such men are altogether too rare. A man of outstanding genius, such high moral standards and such boundless integrity should not be lost to the government because of one gutless indiscretion."

A number of newspapers took the attitude that Adams' continued presence in the government may have to be reconsidered in the light of coming political developments.

Hearst Expression
Expressing the editorial feelings of the Hearst newspapers, which supported Eisenhower in both elections, the New York Journal-American said:

"The issue has not been resolved by the White House announcement that Mr. Adams will continue in his job. Such an affirmation, admirable as it may be, does not answer the question. It will be answered by political realities which will have to be faced and weighed by the president and Mr. Adams, and by Mr. Adams in his conscience, in the days to come."

S. F. Chronicle
The pro-Eisenhower San Francisco Chronicle said in part:

"The popular discovery that the GOP's most outspoken idealist of purity in office has feet of clay and a coat of vicuna will have measurable political effects at the polls in November. We fear that the GOP is about to be tarred by the same brush that it used so forcefully and, let us admit, virtuously, to daub the Democrats in 1952 for their 'mess in Washington'."

Baltimore Sun
The Baltimore Sun singled out for criticism Eisenhower's insistence that he needs Adams. Said the Sun, which supported Eisenhower:

"It is simply absurd to say that he 'needs' him. We can name a dozen men who could move into that office tomorrow and by the end of next week be on top of the job. It grows increasingly likely, moreover, that Mr. Eisenhower is going to have to show that he doesn't need him."

N. Y. Times
The New York Times took a broad view of the situation, criticizing Adams without

Celebration Planned for July 4

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 28, 1879.

A committee of arrangements is industriously working to prepare for a general celebration at Telulah Park for the Glorious Fourth and they desire all to participate.

In the morning a National Salute will be fired. At 10 a. m. a procession will be formed on College Avenue and will include a military band, the Electric Fire Department, the Mayor and Common Council, Gen. Pope and staff, a Battalion of Cavalry, the Sons of Malta, in disguise, the heathen Chinese, and citizens generally.

They will march down the avenue and across to Telulah Park where an oration by the Chief Mogul will be delivered.

Democrats Pussy-Foot On Sales Tax Statement

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Sen. Lynn Stalbaum of Racine county in a few short years in the legislature has risen to the rank of a kind of senior statesman for the Democrats.

It is one of the advantages of membership in a Wyngaard young or otherwise untested party, parenthetically, that relatively high rank comes quickly and with comparatively little competition.

Sen. Stalbaum, as the man who will be the chief finance spokesman for the Democrats if his party wins control of the legislature, has now tried his hand at explaining and interpreting the Democratic state convention platform plank on state finance and taxation.

Like others of his party, he is somewhat startled and nettled, he says, by the press accounts which hold that the platform is somewhat less than the flat declaration against a sales tax which all of the previous propaganda from Democratic headquarters, and all of the stem-winding of the candidates in recent campaigns might have led the electoral public to expect.

PUSSY-FOOTING

Like Mr. Nestingen of Madison, the mayor who denounced the account of the political editor in a pro-Democratic Madison newspaper, the Racine legislator says the important point about the platform is that it asks for a study of the "impact" of taxes on all taxpayers.

It may be doubted that such a study, after all of the "studies" of similar scope the capitol has seen during the last 20 years, will be very exciting to the man on the street.

What is really provocative is Mr. Stalbaum's elaboration:

"After this has been completed, our tax program can be developed in line with the long-time Democratic party idea of taxation based on ability to pay. In all likelihood, in my opinion, it would therefore probably not include a sales tax."

The interested voter there can scarcely escape the beautiful succession of qualifications.

"In all likelihood," and "in my opinion," and "therefore probably."

Mr. Stalbaum would have been more candid and per-calling for his ouster. The Times, which has supported Eisenhower, commented:

"Mr. Adams certainly has shown himself to be guilty, as he suggests, of bad judgment — of extraordinarily bad judgment on the part of so experienced and incorruptible a public servant as he unquestionably is."

haps more successful in getting that expression of nothingness into the news columns for which it was aimed, if he had simply said what the party almost surely meant (or its platform committee) when it wrote the equivocal original plank at the LaCrosse convention. It might go something like this:

"We've campaigned against the sales tax in the past, but we are really not sure that this state can avoid it. We are honestly hoping to win the state election this year, and we want to be sure that we don't promise too much. Please excuse us, therefore, from a definite position until we get our own study made to find out the truth about our present tax burdens."

DISSENT

The Democrats on the convention platform committee relate that they spent hours on drafting and redrafting the tax and finance plank.

That is a curious confession, since it would have been easy to write something like this, in line with previous declarations of the party in other campaign years:

"We oppose sales taxation, under any circumstances."

It may be that such a declaration may yet be forthcoming. Some of the lesser partisans in the party find it difficult to change pace on this favorite question. It is perfectly certain that there would have been a floor fight on the phrasing had Sen. Proxmire, who ran his sales tax speeches into a United States senate seat by his own diagnosis, been present at LaCrosse.

It is important to note that another platform, the official one by statutory definition, will be written by the nominees of the party in September.

But Sen. Proxmire, who wants to return to the congress, doesn't have to answer, after election, for the platform promises. Sen. Nelson and Sen. Stalbaum and others who had a hand in the drafting at LaCrosse might, and fully expect that they will.

Stassen Lives on . . .

From the Huron, S. D. Plainsman.

Now that Harold Stassen has been defeated in Pennsylvania, there are those who say his political career is over. Stassen, of course, doesn't agree. Although he had difficulty in the primary, he contends he could have won in the general elections because "my support normally comes from independents and some Democrats." He added, "When God ends my life, that's when my career will end." As Stassen has been politically "dead" several times previously only to gain new life, who can say positively that he no longer is "a candidate?"

Beverly Steffens Presents Winners

Name 4 Wisconsin Girls Princesses In Alice in Dairyland Competition

DePere — Four girls were named Alice in Dairyland princesses at DePere Saturday evening.

They are Connie Lutz, 19, Oconto Falls; Barbara Haslow, 18, Chili; Carole Calabrese, 18, Milwaukee; and Jane Trappe, 19, Green Bay.

Presentation of the princesses was made by Beverly Steffens, Appleton. She won the contest in 1952.

One of the four will be crowned Alice in Dairyland at the state fair in August. The princesses will work with the state department of agriculture during the summer. The winning contestant, chosen after a series of interviews on the basis of poise and knowledge of the dairy industry, will reign for one year.

Byrnes Speaker
Miss Calabrese has completed her freshman year at the University of Wisconsin—Milwaukee. Miss Haslow and Miss Lutz are students on the university's Madison campus. Miss Haslow as a sophomore and Miss Lutz as a freshman. Miss Trappe attends Wisconsin State college, Stevens Point, where she is entering her second year.

John Byrnes, representative in congress from the Eighth district, spoke at the presentation banquet at St. Norbert college gymnasium.

Byrnes advocated better merchandising and more advertising for the dairy industry and stated that the federal government should aid dairy farmers only in research promotion and removal of artificial trade barriers.

"An important contribution from the federal government can come from aggressive research for dairy products, but the real problem can only be solved by the intelligent, far-reaching and aggressive efforts of thousands of people in the dairy industry," said Byrnes. A good start is being made by the industry, he stated, praising the promotional advertising and research program of the American Dairy association.

Consumption Down
Since 1945, Byrnes stated, consumption of fluid milk has fallen twenty quarts per person per year. Sales of frozen milk products are down nine pounds per person in the same period, and butter consumption has decreased eight and one-half pounds per person.

"If we could devote about one twentieth of the money spent by the government in buying milk surpluses to a comprehensive advertising program, it would greatly help the dairy industry," Byrnes said.

In a message to the four princesses, Byrnes said "you are the symbols of our hope. You are the reminder of our duties and obligations. It will be our constant endeavor to keep the state a dairyland—for all the future Alices in the years to come."

Orion Samuelson, Green Bay, was master of ceremonies. Sponsor of the banquet was the DePere Junior Chamber of Commerce. An Alice in Dairyland parade Saturday morning was staged by the Kiwanis club of DePere and a breakfast Friday morning for the candidates was put on by the DePere Rotary club. Wayne Wendorf, state department of agriculture official, assisted in planning the day's events.

Driver's License Makes the Man, Teenagers Contend in Survey

BY EUGENE GILBERT

In Grandpa's day, long trousers used to separate the men from the boys.

In Dad's day being allowed to smoke in the house and maybe stay up past midnight on prom night heralded the approach of manhood.

Today it's the automobile that makes the man, or at least the young man. Eight out of ten teenagers we interviewed in a nationwide survey indicated their first turn at the wheel of the family car meant more to them as a sign of maturity than their first kiss, their first date or their first crashing of the midnight curfew.

Advanced Learning
To the modern teen ager the sweetest thing about being sweet 16 is that most states allow you to get a driver's license at that tender age. In fact, nearly six out of ten lost no time whatever in their driving careers and dashed down to pick up the operator's license on the day they were 16.

"Getting a driver's license means that you can be entrusted with a grownup responsibility," said 16-year-old Barry Endipo, St. Louis, when asked to explain the importance of the driving license as a symbol of mature achievement.

Nearly one out of every five boys knows how to drive before reaching the legal minimum driving age, although some states issue learner's permits at age 14. Most are taught by their fathers.

Among the girls, less than one in ten can drive before reaching age 18, but three out of ten can drive by the time they're 22. Surprisingly, more girls than boys (42 per cent as opposed to 16 per cent) said they learned how to drive at school.

Nearly one out of 10 boys between the ages of 14 and 17 admitted that they drove (occasionally) — some even said "regularly" — without possessing a driver's license. Of these, 60 per cent were not old enough to take the license test, 25 per cent had flunked it one or more times, and the rest simply had not bothered to apply.

No girls interviewed in the same age group confessed to driving without a license.

Think They're Safe
Robert Sloben, Chicago, was so beside himself with joy at the thought of having a license that he almost combined his first legal driving experience with his first driving mishap. "I was so excited when I got my license," he confessed sheepishly, "I almost crashed through the garage doors. No kidding, I guess I kind of forgot you have to open them first."

Which brings up the point, painful to most teenagers, of safe driving. Despite the high liability rates set by insurance companies for drivers in their age group, teenagers are insistent that they are safe, conscientious and responsible drivers.

"We just got a bum rap," complained Fred Brandill, Austin, Minn. "It's the old story of everybody taking the blame because of a few wise guys. Most of us are pretty good drivers."

His opinion is seconded by Robert E. Petersen, who won a permanent place in the hearts of all hot-rodding teenagers by hitting on the idea of supervised drag racing as a method of teaching safe driving.

Cause of Trouble
Sometimes, as many teenagers admitted, their natural driving aptitude is the cause of the trouble. Explained a New Haven, Conn., youth: "We are good drivers. The only trouble is that because we're so good some of us get too sure of ourselves and take too many chances."

Even more revealing was this comment from 16-year-old Bob Hatter of Los Angeles: "Of course teenagers are the best drivers around. Could an adult drive in a drag race?"

In the same city, 15-year-old Pat Eilian delivered a stinging rebuttal. "Teenagers," she said, "are the worst drivers. They're reckless. In fact, some of the ones I've ridden with are downright dangerous. They think they know everything, but someday they'll get told off by a morgue attendant."

After learning how to drive and passing the license test, youth's crowning achievement, a sure sign of incipient manhood, is owning a car of your own, your very own.

Many Have Cars
By age 18, our survey indicated, nearly one boy in 20 but less than one girl out of 100 had their own car. Of these, two out of three were in the jockey class, 1951 models or earlier, and almost all, with few exceptions, came from a used car lot rather than a family hand-me-down.

From the time he has a car to call his own, a young man's life begins to revolve around his most treasured possession. Besides the dating and outing opportunities, the young driver begins to take an interest in the mechanics of his car.

Approximately 25 per cent of the young car owners said they had read up on automobile repair either at the library or by buying automobile magazines and booklets. For most, the interest was motivated by economics more than curiosity.

To the teenager, then, the automobile, whether family car or jalopy, represents a whole new way of life, the first big steps on the road to adulthood. Knowing how to drive means social prestige, new found independence and a man-sized chunk of responsibility.

Concluded Seymour Brandice of New Haven, Conn., "Driving is the first real indication we have that older people recognize at last that we are growing up."

Second Annual 'Gripe Night' on Playgrounds Scheduled for Tuesday

The second annual "gripe session" for parents will be held on all city playgrounds at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. Parents are invited to discuss the playground program with play leaders and can offer suggestions for improvements and changes, Lawrence Witzke, playground supervisor, said. Complaints from parents last year brought a close of the playgrounds this year during the supper hour. Other highlights on the playgrounds next week include a marshmallow roast at 7 o'clock Monday night, a doll show at 6:45 Wednesday night and a circus parade at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

The American forces were ill-fed and ill-clothed, sick, and often desperate so that one sometimes wonders what held their cause together to continue fighting what appeared to be a hopeless engagement.

"On the strength of partial records," says the author, "the revolution, after it moved to the south, was one of the dirtiest Civil wars ever fought. And not all the dirty work was on the part of the British army either. It was kill or be killed, but every paragraph is packed with excitement, action and inspiration. It is the account of the Revolutionary war as fought in the south, when Cornwallis, Tarleton and several other of the British generals were trying to capture and hold Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas to divide the northern and southern sections of the country and retain the southern colonies for the British crown.

The murderous nature of that southern war which British Gen. Tarleton conducted so brilliantly was almost beyond belief. It was planned by him to be a war of plunder and devastation and one in which uninformed neighbors would murder other uninformed neighbors, burn homes, destroy food crops, cattle, and sheep, and drive women and children from their homes, to starve in the terrible swamps which dotted certain sections of the Carolinas. It was fundamentally a Civil war between loyalists and patriots, and in many instances neighbors did not actually know on which side their friends and

Anderson May Amend Atomic Bill Further

Passage Expected in Senate; President Urges Quick Action

BY JOE HALL
Washington — Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) said today he may offer amendments to limit some of the provisions of a bill to relax atomic weapons secrecy.

The bill is tentatively slated to come up for senate debate during the afternoon. Passage is expected after only a few hours' debate but the bill may be altered somewhat on the floor.

President Eisenhower has urged quick action on the measure, which is designed to strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance. The house passed it last Thursday 345-12. The president renewed his plea to congressional leaders to expedite the bill after his recent meeting with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain. That nation would be a principal beneficiary.

Anderson, vice chairman of the senate-house atomic energy committee, told newsmen he might offer an amendment to remove a section he said would make it possible to give plans for an atomic-powered submarine to France.

Maybe Not Wise
"I'm not sure that this is a wise provision with things as they are now in France," he said.

The senator said he also was concerned over several provisions which he described as conferring authority to give a foreign nation a "do-it-yourself kit" on production of atomic weapons. The weapons themselves could not be transferred.

Former President Herbert Hoover, center, and President Carlos Garcia of the Philippines listen as President Theodore Heuss of West Germany makes a point during a chat in Hoover's hotel suite in New York City today. Garcia and Heuss are in the country on state visits. Their call on Hoover lasted about 25 minutes. (AP Wire-photo)

Anderson said he had drafted amendments to tighten these provisions and possibly would present them to the senate. At least he said, he would voice his skepticism over the bill.

The measure would permit the greatest relaxation of the strict U. S. atomic secrecy requirements since passage of the McMahon act in 1946.

It would allow this country to furnish designs for nuclear weapons and the fissionable material to make them to an ally that already has made substantial progress in the atomic weapons field. Sponsors

Late Movie Magnate Remembered As Gentleman of Culture, Good Taste

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

I recently went to the funeral of an interesting and charming man who was very important in the motion picture industry but was probably not as famous as many stars whom he made great and who shot before his stellar careers to perform.

I first met Nate Spingold under the most unfortunate circumstances. He came to quarrel with me. He was angry and yet genteel, which is so unusual these days. Gentility is a gift which only those born to the manner possess, and although Spingold could not have come from any kind of aristocracy, he was born with the personality and manner and integrity which we attribute to the very best of human beings.

And so, on a Saturday afternoon, this man whose height and leanness and gentleness of feature made him look somewhat like Abraham Lincoln do? We cannot afford to employ him because we shall lose money as there will be a boycott. What is such a person to do? Is he to starve?

Out of this discussion, an effort developed which saved the reputation and earning capacity of many men and women in the motion picture industry. A technique was established by which each person wrote a confidential letter to his own employer. For a week or two, some of the letters came into the hands of unauthorized persons, but that was soon stopped. The letters were screened by a small voluntary committee. No lawyers or press agents were tolerated. No one earned a dollar out of these transactions. The volunteer committee paid its own expenses, whatever they came to.

The Fund for the Republic tried to make something about this. Most of what it reported was hearsay and inaccurate because those who really knew what was being done declined to give any information to their investigators. It is a tribute to Nate Spingold that most of his industry accepted his ideas on heard. What does such a man do? We cannot afford to employ him because we shall lose money as there will be a boycott. What is such a person to do? Is he to starve?

Out of this discussion, an effort developed which saved the reputation and earning capacity of many men and women in the motion picture industry. A technique was established by which each person wrote a confidential letter to his own employer. For a week or two, some of the letters came into the hands of unauthorized persons, but that was soon stopped. The letters were screened by a small voluntary committee. No lawyers or press agents were tolerated. No one earned a dollar out of these transactions. The volunteer committee paid its own expenses, whatever they came to.

Letters Written
The problem as I see it is very different from that which you see. The way I see it, what means does a person who is not a communist have to prove that he is not a communist, not a traitor? If such a person goes to the FBI, what he says is confidential; it is filed and the public never hears of it. If he goes to a congressional committee, he may or may not be the subject with enthusiasm, although there are always everywhere chiselers who would rather make a dollar than serve their country.

New People
It can be said that most of these chiselers were new people in the motion picture industry who have had much to do with lowering its standards and giving it a very bad name. Also, it was during this activity that many Hollywood companies began making pictures in other countries, using up their blocked money, employing foreign labor, paying withholding charges to communist unions in Italy, saving on taxes and curiously enough, going broke in the process. The motion picture industry has become a marginal one in the Los Angeles area and important studios are now devoted to making TV films.

To the motion picture industry the loss of Nate Spingold is great, not because he knew how to make profits which he did, but because he was a gentleman of culture and good taste. Like Louis B. Mayer, who also died recently, his major concern was his country and its dignity. Spingold started life as a newspaperman working for Hearst in Chicago. He came to New York as a press agent; he became a movie magnate. But he never forgot his newspaper experience which meant that he could see a fact and appraise it. His virtue was that he leavened his appraisal by moral criteria.

Insurance Firm Honors Officer

John I. Davis, treasurer of the Home Mutual Insurance company, was honored at a special dinner here in commemoration of 25 years of service with the company. He was presented with a portable television set by members of the concern.

In introducing Davis, Gordon A. Bubolz, president, traced the experiences of the two during the early days of the company. A native of Pennsylvania, Davis met Bubolz while they were students at the Wharton School of Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania.

Davis became associated with the company in 1933 as an inspector of farm risks, then became underwriter, chief underwriter and vice president. He was named treasurer of Home Mutual on Feb. 16, 1955.

Install Officers

and son, Randy, 3, and Doreen Herman, 8, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Q. Herman, 1317 W. Prospect avenue, Appleton, whom he was helping at their cottage.

When the boat was some 800 feet from shore, Sheriff Charles Lowry understood, Heule might have put the Herman girl in the water to swim. When she found she could not, he threw her a life preserver and jumped in the water to hold her up. The girl had some knowledge of swimming, it was said.

The boat drifted off and he was unable to catch up to it. His calls for help were heard after some time by Leland Meyer, 1316 N. Appleton street, Appleton, at his cottage on Clark's bay.

Meyer launched his boat and was able to get the Herman girl out of the water but Heule sank before he could be helped to the boat. Meyer then covered the boat with the Heule children in it.

Capt. Edwin Harwood of the county traffic patrol was at his cottage near the scene and started dragging operations immediately. He said he believes he hooked the body twice, but since Heule was clad only in swimming trunks was not able to bring it in.

The dragging continued for several hours but was abandoned when a squall made the lake choppy. It was resumed at 7:30 this morning with skin divers assisting.

Harwood said the bay is quite shallow, but at the point of the drowning there is a hole about 7 1/2 feet deep.

It is believed that Heule thought the boat was still in shallow water when he placed the Herman girl in the water.

Heule served two years from 1954 to 1956 as president of the Jefferson school PTA and had the male lead role in its 1955 play, "Here Comes Charlie."

He and his wife had been appointed co-chairmen of the ways and means committee of the PTA for this fall. He also served on various committees of the Menasha PTA council, helping in various activities staged by the city recreation department.

He was born June 20, 1921, at Appleton and moved to Menasha in 1956. He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the army infantry.

VNA Selects
Architect for Home Project

Frank Shattuck
Firm Begins Plans
For Proposed Building

Frank C. Shattuck Associates, Inc., has been selected as the architectural firm to design the proposed Visiting Nurse association home for the retired. The home will be built on the old Jefferson school site, donated by the city for this purpose. The Shattuck firm was chosen from a field of about 25 architects, both local and out of town, who indicated interest in the project. The selection committee consisted of J. R. Whitman, Sr., Roy Purdy, both of the VNA advisory board, and Mmes. Joseph Foley, Otto Schultz, C. B. Sitterson and Eugene Pierce, all VNA board members. Final choice was made by the entire VNA board and Miss Inez Davis, nurse director. Plans for the home are progressing but no estimate has been made as to when construction will start, according to the board. The building fund, begun with a bequest from the late George Peabody, is growing but is short of the amount needed, directors point out. Under terms of the will, part of the Peabody money must be used for endowment of the home. Members of the board have been visiting and studying homes for the retired throughout the state for the last two years in attempts to decide on local building plans. Meetings with the architect currently are being held to work on detailed plans.

N. Richmond Street
Residents Warned on Reporting Fire Calls

Residents of N. Richmond street should be extra careful of fire hazards and the way they report fires, Fire Chief Paul Neumann advised this morning. Answering fire calls on the street during the period of street reconstruction will be dangerous because of the narrow roadway width and construction machines, Neumann said. For these reasons, he urges N. Richmond residents to make sure they have cleaned up all five hazards in their buildings. When they call the department, he said, the street address should be given exactly and so should the nature of the fire. The correct address, he explained may permit the department to reach the scene by intersecting streets and thus avoid the congestion. The nature of the fire will tell firemen how many trucks to send. be presented to William McKerrow of Pewaukee that night. Four-H band and chorus groups will participate and the finals of the state-wide speaking contest will be held. Wednesday morning the careers program continues with 4-H members in small groups talking with faculty members. Wednesday afternoon the third general session features a speech on "Youth's Role in National Security" by Frank R. Barnett of the Richardson foundation, New York City. Special Recognition Wednesday evening Conrad Elvehjem, president-elect of the university, will meet with the youth for a special honor member recognition ceremony. Thursday morning the final session features speeches by International Farm Youth Exchange delegates who have gone abroad from Wisconsin. Also farm youth delegates from Iran, Northern Ireland, and Germany, now visiting in Wisconsin, will speak.

McCormick, who admitted during his 7-day trial in municipal court that he struck Theresa VanDerHorst, also of Kaukauna, on the head with a shell casing, was sentenced to prison July 20, 1956. He testified at his trial that the girl was unconscious and he dragged her to a cubbyhole in his grandmother's basement and left her. The event happened March 9. Her body was found March 11. "Someday, my Daddy's going to be RICH!"

Well, actually, you can say he is rich right now because this little girl's daddy is buying life insurance protection and saving his money at the same time. He's doing it with the BMA Preferred 30-Pay Life Plan. In addition to the immediate benefit of protection for his family, someday he's going to have a fine nest egg of cash. Now he's 25 years old, and each year he pays in $171.70. In the next 30 years, $5,151.00. And all the while, his family will be protected by his $10,000 life insurance coverage. After 30 years the cash value of the policy owned by the Little Miss's daddy will be $5,821.20—that's $670.20 more than he paid in. How's that for life insurance protection with a built-in savings account? Protection for today. Retirement money for tomorrow.

Here's how much you save:
(Based on $10,000 contracts)

Policy Issued At Age	Annual Deposit	Cash Value in 30 Years	Gain Over Total Annual Deposits
25	$171.70	$5,821.20	$670.20
30	194.80	6,402.00	558.00
35	224.00	6,971.90	251.90

Educational funds, additional retirement income, accident and health benefits can be included in your BMA 30-Pay Life Plan. Ask your BMA representative.

Crafts From Many Countries drew the attention of four women attending the annual convention of the United States section of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The convention continues through Tuesday on the Lawrence college campus. ### Believe in an Idea

Peace League Delegates Serious in Promoting Non-Violence in World

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An outsider visiting the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom at Colman hall soon gets the idea this group is not beating the drum for world peace just to hear the din.

Delegates appear to be serious-minded women who believe in an idea—that man can overcome the evils of power, tyranny, war and cruelty if he puts his mind to it and that the job can be done through non-violent methods even in the world today.

Dr. Orle Pell, New York City, president of the United States section of the WILPF, stressed this idea Saturday in her keynote speech on the fundamental philosophy of the organization. Reports of committee personnel and various chapters explained their work for a Baltimore, international vice president, spoke out for a "bold and not a timid stand," with action now along with the organization's long view toward its goals. Mrs. John D. Baker, Westport, Conn., international representative to the United Nations, discussed work of the committee for world development and the disarmament, pointing up the value of its many publications as a resource service to other organizations interested in the peace movement.

In a Saturday afternoon speech Mrs. Marjorie Watson, New York, told women to be on the watch for police brutality, particularly toward minority groups.

She said this might become a project of local branches since, she claimed, "violent treatment by police of some prisoners unfortunately is a general condition. . . There have been instances where police brutally treated prisoners probably because the prisoners were Negroes. Look to your own police practices and you may find discrimination."

She also asked her audience to work toward fair housing practices in all communities.

Board Elections
Sunday's principal speaker was Edwin T. Randall, a member of the Columbia Broadcasting staff and director of Friendly World Radio. He explained to the league how it could support his radio work and how they could procure his tapes for playing on local stations.

Elected to the board of directors were Miss Grace Baird, Detroit; Mrs. Dorothy Blackman, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Cameron, New York; Mrs. Emily Parker Simon, Mrs. Emilie H. Condon, St. Louis; Mrs. Carmelita Hinton, Putney, Vt.; Mrs. Dorothy Hutchinson, Jenkintown, Pa.; Miss Flemmie Kittrell, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Pauline Maas, Mountain Lakes, N. J.; Mrs. Lilly Pickett, Haverford, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy Robinson, Washington, D. C.; Miss Doris Shanley, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Marta Teale, Ithaca, N. Y.; Volting was done by mail and until early Saturday evening.

Work done by the Denmark section, as reported by the mock representative, included acceptance of 1,000 Hungarian refugees, work on coalition of the country's parties, and relief work in Greek camps.

A statement given to UNES- CO by the French delegate who also serves on UNESCO was read by her U. S. substitute. The report from India noted a concentration of work on education.

A suggestion for making work on the international level more effective was to appoint an international chairman by every branch of the league.

Mrs. Elizabeth Weidman, Dearborn, Mich., U. S. section chairman of international work and one of the two U. S. consultative international members, was chairman.

Says Personal Element Is Key in Peacemaking

Washington Woman Claims Violence Terms Often Used in Conversation

Continued reminders of the personal element in peacemaking is one of the most important parts of education for peaceful attitudes, Miss Bertha McNeill, Washington, D. C., coordinator of the educational division of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, declared Sunday.

Miss McNeill keynoted a symposium on peace education at Colman hall as part of the league's annual convention. "Personal elements," she said, can be seen even on a conversational level, as in use of expressions of violence like "fighting mad" and "blood, sweat and tears," which indicate the extent to which people are used to violence.

Examples of what work can be done by the league in education were given by Mrs. Marie Lyons, Newton Center, Mass., who cited a project in her own community which explored the causes of prejudice in school children, and Miss Euola Lentz, St. Louis, a second grade teacher, who suggested that mothers talk to their children's teachers about teaching peace.

PTA Chairmen
Other proposals of league members were working through school boards and adult education committees, sending league literature to teachers, and appointing chairmen of international work for PTA groups on the local and state levels.

Mrs. Lyons, in a report about the plan in which she took part, said findings showed national and cultural differences in attitude and a high correlation between punishment of aggression in children and the individual's attitude toward himself and the world.

Miss Lentz said the situation in education is "regrettable because schools don't teach world-mindedness per se." This world-mindedness should be a part of every teacher's training, she said.

Research on peace and education has shown that there is more success when children work together on common interests than when they work on the actual problem on integration.

She suggested an education committee might look for successful inter-group studies and distribute information about them.

War Games Stopped
Mrs. Hedwig Reh, secretary of the Swedish section, told of her work in the nursery school which she directs. Working with the personal elements in the lives of the children, she tries to see that none of them have toy guns and planes and tries to stop their playing war games. Prevalence of toy weapons, she said, makes children take war for granted.

The part which one individual can play in control of personal elements was illustrated by Mrs. Mary Nuttall, a league member in Britain, who wrote to an American cereal company objecting to its advertising a toy gun on its packages.

She received a reply from the managing director of the company, she said, and the next offer on the cereal box was for musical instruments.

Third Delegate Dies of Auto Crash Injuries

A third delegate from the south has died of injuries received in an auto accident while on her way to attend the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom convention at Colman hall on the Lawrence campus.

Word was received Saturday that Mrs. Rufus Lewis, Montgomery, Ala., had died of injuries. She was hurt in the same 4 - car crash Thursday night near Hopkinsville, Ky., which earlier claimed the lives of Miss Grace Arnold, an Atlanta, Ga., school teacher, and Dr. Emma Gray, a member of the faculty of a college for Negroes in Atlanta.

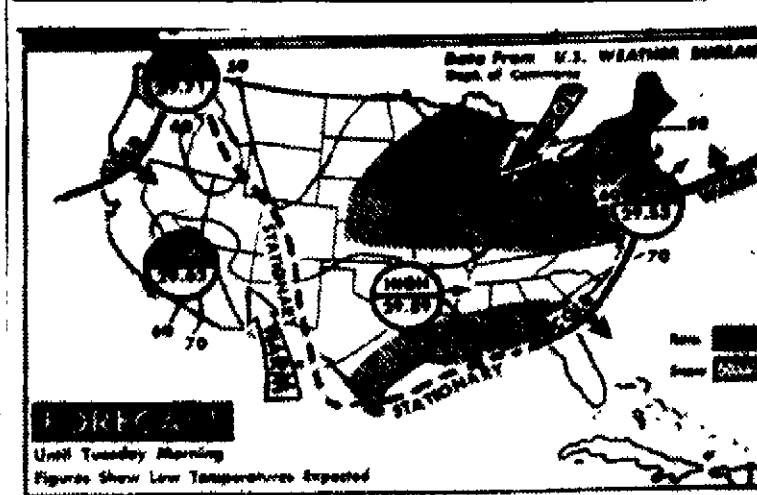

Mrs. A. W. West, Sr., Montgomery, Ala., was seriously injured and is confined to a hospital at Hopkinsville. She was reported doing well.

The four were to have taken part in a program on problems in living in the deep south Tuesday.

Tornado Dips At Hudson on Wet Sunday

Funnel Cloud Near June 4 Devastation, No Damage Reported

There were showers all over Wisconsin Sunday, and a tornado touched down near Hudson without causing damage, but the rainfall was generally less than one inch.

The funnel cloud sighted near Hudson in northwestern Wisconsin damaged a tree and roared over a farm but then disappeared. This was only 40 miles west of the scene of a devastating tornado scene June 4 in which 28 persons were killed.

Rainfall measured .07 of an inch in Appleton, according to the weather station of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The high for Sunday was 79 degrees and the overnight low, 51 degrees. By 11:10 this morning, the thermometer was 58.

Shell Lake Wettest
Shell Lake, near Spooner, got the heaviest precipitation Sunday afternoon and evening, 1.26 inches. At Three Lakes, the rain was accompanied by hail the size of peas.

Minimum temperatures Sunday night and early today were mostly in the 40s and low 50s—about 4 to 12 degrees below the seasonal normals. The lowest overnight reading was 39 degrees at Shell Lake, only 2 degrees above the nation's low at Hibbing, Minn.

High temperatures Sunday ranged from a state high of 78 at Madison to 63 at Two Rivers which juts out into Lake Michigan.

Generally fair weather was reported at 9 o'clock this morning over the extreme western portion of the state but it was cloudy over most of the state with some light showers falling at Stevens Point.

League Pledges Support to UN, Disarmament, Federal School Aid

Passes Policy Against Colonialism, Capital Punishment, Anti-Labor Laws

BY BETTY KILICH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom for the next two years will operate under a policy supporting total world disarmament, cessation of nuclear weapons testing, neutralization and eventual demilitarization of tension areas and an international interchange of technical nuclear information for peaceful purposes.

In addition, the group, meeting through Tuesday on the Lawrence college campus, has passed policy supporting a program of mutual assistance carried on through the United Nations, federal aid to education, abolition of discrimination and freedom of communications.

Further policy indicates the women are opposed to capital punishment, anti-labor legislation, colonialism, compulsory military training and the development of atomic energy by private industry for industrial and commercial purposes without adequate safeguards for the public interest.

Biennial Changes

Because activities of the league are based on national and international affairs, a new statement of principles and policies is adopted biennially. Policy to 1960 was approved during Saturday's sessions.

Hearty support of the UN as an agency "to provide for conciliation, negotiation and judicial review so that violence will be eliminated in the settlement of international disputes" is an essential part of the group's operating tactics, as is support of the international atomic energy agency.

Through the latter the policy statement explains, "controls involved would point the way to methods of policing a nuclear weapons production ban and increase the world's sense of security."

Another integral piece of policy is the support of mutual assistance carried on through the UN and its specialized agencies. "These are preferable to projects sponsored by individual governments and private corporations since they furnish better safeguards against economic exploitation and lessen the fear of imperialist aims or military commitments," the women agreed.

Uphold Conscience

Under the freedom of conscience paragraph, delegates affirmed their stand that "there are periods in history when refusal to cooperate in programs that deny and debase the dignity of the human spirit is the only recourse that can conscientiously be taken. Therefore, the WILPF upholds the stand of those who, for conscience sake, are opposed to signing loyalty oaths, giving testimony, to paying that share of taxes which goes for military purposes or to participating in civil defense activities."

Several of the policy paragraphs were preceded by vigorous discussion before passage.

A paragraph on freedom of thought, speech and right of assembly asked for vigilance on the part of all citizens, then condemned the infringement of freedom of thought, loyalty oaths and vigilante groups.

Is the WILPF a vigilante or a vigilante group, queried a delegate from St. Louis.

"No one would say we're a vigilante group, that implies right-wingers," retorted another delegate. "Certainly we're a vigilante group. There's a difference."

After consulting a dictionary, it was decided, for semantic purposes, to reword the paragraph striking "vigilante" from the policy.

Divine Law

Another woman objected to referring to conscientious objectors as "offenders" and their act as an "offense" in the policy on freedom of conscience. "If they've broken a law, it's a wrong law," she claimed. "Civil law is superseded by divine law and they're adhering to divine law."

It was pointed out that civil lawbreakers still are offenders, whether they've broken a "right" or a "wrong" law but

Latin America would be hurt if the WILPF didn't include it in the statement asking for demilitarization of bases in tension areas. The paragraph mentioned only Central Europe, the Middle East and the Far East as examples of such areas, she asserted, but ignored Latin America.

It was agreed Latin America, Africa and other areas would have to understand the three others were mentioned only as examples of tension spots and WILPF would concentrate its efforts in all territories where military bases are found.

Still another delegate argued

WSCS Holds District Meet

Brilliant — "The Christian Woman in Her Community" was the theme for Mrs. George Hampel's address at the annual assembly and officers training workshop of the Appleton district of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church Thursday at the Brillington campgrounds. She is district secretary of Christian social relations for the Milwaukee district of the Wisconsin conference.

The morning's program began with registration under the direction of Mrs. Russell Tamm and Mrs. Ida Relchardt, about the size of a silver dollar.

"Christ to the World We Sing," a local historian says these devotions led by Mrs. Roy Steen, Appleton, honorary vice president.

The district officers led training workshops and clinics for local officers in the afternoon session.

Three Invested As Monsignors

Bishop Officiates
At Ceremonies for Appleton Priests

Three Appleton priests were invested with the robes of Domestic Prelate and given the title of monsignor during solemn ceremonies Sunday. The Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay, officiated at all three ceremonies.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. A. Hauch, pastor of St. Therese church, was invested in a private evening ceremony attended by a few priests and members of the family and household. A purse from members of the parish was presented to the new monsignor that afternoon by Gene Birchler and Mrs. Gordon Vander Wyst.

Also invested were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Theodore Kersten, St. Elizabeth hospital chaplain, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Emil Schmit, pastor of Sacred Heart church.

Receptions followed both ceremonies and another reception, planned by the parish, will be held for Father Schmit tonight in the parish hall.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Glueckstein, a Catholic priest for 46 years and pastor of St. Margaret Mary church, Neenah, for 20 years, also was invested by Bishop Bona during a special mass Sunday morning.

Youth Tells Story, But It Backfires

Milwaukee — Raymond Rudits, 19, reported to the police another motorist followed his car for three miles played bumper tag with him, then cut him off, reversed gears and rammed him from the front.

Police, upon investigation, said the only thing wrong with the story was that nobody did those things to Rudits. He did them to Edward Zibulski, 17, when he found Zibulski out for a ride with a girl he had dated. Judge Frank Gregorski fined Rudits $100 and jailed him for 30 days for driving after revocation of his driver's license.

The Vestments of a Monsignor were worn by the Rev. Theodore Kersten, St. Elizabeth hospital chaplain, kneeling, when he was received into the office. The Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay, officiates. Assisting are the Rev. L. F. Nickel, left, assistant at Sacred Heart church, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. A. Ropella, right, chancellor of the diocese; and the Rev. J. C. Boehm, partially obscured, assistant at Sacred Heart. (Post-Crescent Photo)

State Police Receive Anonymous Donation

Charleston, W. Va. — State police received a letter, postmarked Kittery, Me., which began: "I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the state trooper who so courageously assisted me on Highway 60 out of Huntington on Feb. 20."

The letter, containing no other details of the incident, was signed, "Uncle Joe Santa-J.W. B." Enclosed was a $5 bill for the "Santa Claus Fund." Because the state police department has no such fund, the money was deposited in the state police disability and retirement fund.

Dig Those Tunnels!

Chute Des Pesses, Que. — A construction team has claimed a world record in drilling a tunnel for hydro-electric purposes near this community 250 miles north of Quebec. Two hundred workers drove a 655-foot tunnel in six days compared with a 587-foot tunnel in six days at Niagara Falls, Ont., in 1952.

The most unselfish purchase a man makes

He can't wear it. Or drive it. Or display it for people to see. Probably the most unselfish purchase a man makes is life insurance.

Yet this purchase does bring something to its owner. For example, the feeling that he is truly a good provider. That he is meeting his responsibilities to those who mean the world to him.

What is this feeling worth?—Plenty, any father can tell you. He has a feeling of security that could be gained in no other way.

Yes, life insurance is an unselfish purchase. But it brings great and satisfying rewards to the purchaser just the same.

Oshkosh Boy Falls Into Well

Firemen Rescue 22-Months Old Tot From Narrow Shaft

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Firemen late Saturday morning rescued a 22-months-old child from the water filled bottom of a 13-foot open well and were able to revive it.

Joseph Spanbauer, young son of the Richard Spanbauers, 720 W. Sixth street, Oshkosh, fell into an open well at 702 W. Sixth avenue, about 11:50 Saturday morning. The well was two feet in diameter but had a 3-foot opening at the top with two concrete slabs at the sides of the well.

Firemen removed the concrete slabs and Frank Pentzenstadler crawled down the narrow well and pulled the boy up. The water was five feet deep at the bottom.

Artificial respiration and a resuscitator were applied immediately to the boy who was revived and then taken to Mercy hospital from which he was released Sunday. The boy was revived within nine minutes after firemen received the call.

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — The 6-game win streak piled up by the Menasha Macs came to an abrupt end Saturday night when they came out on the losing end of an 18 to 0 trouncing at the hands of the Racine Redbirds.

The Macs ran into some strong pitching in Ron Jones and some strong batting that saw 17 hits piled up, aided by quite a few Mac misuses and some walks.

Twice the Redbirds batted around in an inning and in those innings they collected six runs and eight runs. The Macs were able to connect safely three times and had seven men stranded on the sacks. Three errors were marked up against Racine.

Jones set 11 of the Macs down on strikeouts and yielded only two walks. "Bud" Koehn went the route for Menasha.

He gave up his first run in the second on three hits with "Harp" Fedders scoring the opener. Bon Boerger, who was walked in the third, scored the next run. The fourth inning saw the plate crossed six times on eight hits, ending with bases loaded.

Two more Racine runs crossed the plate in the seventh.

when two errors by Shortstop Clem Massey put two men on but Massey trapped one of them trying to score. A double by Cal Gerber scored the two runs.

The eighth inning started off with a walk to Pat Malfara, followed by Marty Dylla's home run. Third Baseman Dick Cornell juggled a ground ball and John Olbert reached first. With two outs Jones singled and Boerger loaded the sacks with another error by Cornell. Ray Ellis was hit by a pitched ball to score Olbert and a third error by Cornell scored Jones.

With bases loaded Malfara homered over the right field fence for a grand slammer and the last runs to be scored by Racine. A walk to Dylla and a strikeout ended their chances in that frame.

The Macs put Koehnke on base with a walk in the second after one out and Jim Kersten added a single. Dick Frank fanned and Cornell grounded to the pitcher to end that threat. An error put Koehnke on base in the fourth but he died there.

A walk to Cornell was followed by his being forced at second by Don Gosz. The latter reached second on an error but got no farther. Massey singled in the sixth and again in the eighth for the Macs other two hits but died on the base each time.

Don Gosz, Mac catcher, was hit in the knee by a foul tip in the eighth inning. He was taken to Theda Clark hospital in the ambulance but released after X-rays were taken.

County Agent Warns Owners Of Pets of Rabies Symptoms

Post-Crescent-Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — A warning to be aware of animals acting differently than is their usual custom, whether it be a domesticated or wild animal, because of the possible presence of rabies was issued today by County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky.

The state has recorded so far this year more positive rabies cases than the 74 during all of last year. The 84 positive cases diagnosed by qualified veterinarians of the disease control laboratory of the state department of agriculture through May 23 include 63 skunks, 15 domestic animals including dogs, cats and one pig and six other wildlife animals including foxes and bats.

Winnebago county had a case of rabies in a dog in May but there have been no further developments in the county to the knowledge of the county agent. He suggested owners of pets, particularly dogs, become informed on the symptoms of rabies and on control measures.

A leaflet on the rabies symptoms and controls is available from his office at the courthouse. Rabies is a fatal disease of human beings and many wild and domestic animals, he cautioned. It is caused by a virus so small that it cannot be seen with an ordinary microscope.

Present in Saliva The rabies virus is present in the saliva of affected animals and is spread largely through the bites of such animals. Abrasions or scratches may permit the virus to enter the body.

The saliva becomes infectious a day or so before the affected individual shows evidence of the disease and remains infectious until death. The incubation period for rabies from exposure to signs of the disease may be as short as 10 days to as long as 180 days.

Foxes, Cedar Rapids Split Weekend Tilts

Bob Taylor's Homer Tops Foxes, 7-6

Cedar Rapids, Ia. — The Fox Cities Foxes battled back from behind twice here Sunday night but couldn't do it a third time and lost to Cedar Rapids, 7-6.

The Foxes' loss, which evened the current series at 1-1, was their second by one run in their last three games.

Bob "Hawk" Taylor's solo home run in the last of the seventh, his fourth of the season, broke up a 6-6 tie game. Reliever Ernie Stinson, the victim of the blast who pitched only the seventh inning, was suffering his fourth straight setback.

Dick Griffith Pitches 2-Hit Shutout to Chalk Up 9th Victory; 'Tex' Taylor Suffers Ankle Sprain

Special to Post-Crescent

Cedar Rapids, Iowa — Lefty Dick Griffith cut Cedar Rapids down on two hits Saturday night to pace the Fox Cities to a 2-0 victory in its quest to overtake the fourth place Braves.

Griffith, who has mastered Cedar Rapids three times in his nine victories this season, had a no-hitter for the 6-2-3 innings. Catcher Wayne Cummings ruined the no-hit bid with a single to center that fell only a few feet from the on-rushing Ron Dibelius.

Click Singles
The other hit was an infield single by Larry Click in the ninth inning. It came in Cedar Rapids' biggest threat. Bob Taylor walked with two down and then Click hammered a Griffith delivery into the ground that bounced high in the air be-

Braves Drop 2nd 2-1 Decision to St. Louis Cards

Maglie Baffles Milwaukee With Assorted 'Junk'

Milwaukee — Sal Maglie's stungy pitching throttled Milwaukee's heavy hitters Sunday as the St. Louis Cardinals gained their second 2-1 victory over the Braves in two days.

The 41-year-old master of 'junk' pitching held the Braves to four singles and a double as he made his first appearance since the New York Yankees traded him to St. Louis a week ago.

Maglie was replaced by a pinch hitter in the eighth inning, and Larry Jackson held the Braves hitless in the final two innings.

The balding 'Barber' mixed low curves and changeup pitches, baffling power hitters Henry Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock, who was playing left field for the first time in six years.

Frank Torre the only Brave who got two hits, led off the second inning with a single and scored on Billy Bruton's single, which followed a walk to Johnny Logan.

With two men out Maglie walked Crandall, filling the bases.

Sal saved himself by striking out Joey Jay, Milwaukee's starting hurler, with some deliveries a more experienced batter would have spurned.

The count was three balls and two strikes when the over-anxious Jay swung vainly at a bad pitch that could have earned a more patient batter a walk.

The vital strikeout was Maglie's only one of the game. He walked five batters.

Jay started the third inning by striking out Maglie and getting Don Blasingame on a grounder to Torre.

But then the young hurler dressed the window for his own defeat by walking Joe Cunningham and Stan Musial. Both men scored on Ken Boyer's between short and third. Click beat Carlos Pascual's throw by a step for the base hit.

Griffith promptly fanned Cummings on three pitches to end the threat. It was his ninth strikeout. Loser was Cedar Rapids' tough-luck lefty Bill Hamilton. He fanned eight in 8 innings and scattered eight hits. The only run off Hamilton came in the sixth when the Foxes combined singles by Bob Tano and Bill Bone and Carlos Pascual's long sacrifice fly to center.

The Foxes sewed it up in the ninth with another run, this one off reliever George Player. Jim Nisewonger singled and was sacrificed to second by Bob Payne. Bob Van Dyke then blizzed a single through second to send Nisewonger home.

The Foxes may have lost the services of first baseman Tex Taylor for possibly a week when he suffered a sprained ankle while sliding into second base in the fourth. He had to be helped from the field.

Don Dantoni paced the Foxes with three hits in four trips. He singled in his first three trips before fanning in the ninth.

Dark horses ran 1-2 in the race for the Fox Cities amateur golf championship during the weekend, making the fifth annual Post-Crescent sponsored tourney the most surprising as well as the biggest in the series.

John Lindberg, Butte des Morts' blond belter, won his first major golf title by fashioning a composite Neenah Bridge-wood-BDM tally of 145 — the best 36-hole total in the history of the tournament. Lindberg succeeded clubmate Don Strutz — twice-in-a-row champ — as Fox Cities kingpin, giving BDM four straight individual championships.

Seventeen-year-old Bob Ferrel, even more of a long-shot in the talented field, won the runnerup trophy with an excellent card of 148.

3 Tie for Third
Tied for third at 150 were three of the top-rated tourney performers — Strutz, Chet Bland and Bob Martin.

After coming in with a hook-plagued 77 at Bridgwood,

Sets New 5-Man Record of 749; Ridgeway Second

With its representatives spearing four of the first five individual places, it was no problem for Appleton Butte des Morts to win its third Fox Cities golf tournament team crown in five tries.

BDM over the weekend dethroned Neenah Ridgeway with a record low total of 749 strokes from its best five scorers. The previous tourney record of 751 was set in 1954 by Ridgeway.

BDM won the 1958 honors by 23 strokes over runnerup Ridgeway. Reid Muni came in third, seven shots farther back with 779. Six of the seven area clubs or courses had enough men in the tourney to qualify for the race for the team trophy.

John Lindberg and Bob Ferrel, the individual champ and runnerup, led the BDM cause with 145 and 148, respectively.

Wins 2nd Straight As Van Offeren Hurls 8-Hitter

Little Chute—

Bill Van Offeren scattered eight hits to pace the Little Chute Legion to its second straight triumph, a 6-2 win over New London here Saturday afternoon.

Van Offeren was tough in the clutch and his mates backed him with a 9-hit attack, five of which came in the seventh when the Dutchmen scored five times.

Little Chute took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Ed Hammen doubled and scored as Ady Ebben singled. New London came up with a pair in the sixth when Larry Collar walked, Ken Huebner singled and Jerry McClone loaded the bases by reaching first on an error.

Freedom Stops Two Rivers, 5-0, On Six-Hitter

Mike Vanden Heuvel
Gains Decision
Over Ron Brault

Freedom — Mike Vanden Heuvel blanked Two Rivers on six hits as Freedom beat the Fox River Valley baseball league cellar dwellers, 5-0, here Sunday afternoon.

Vanden Heuvel, who dropped a 1-0 pitchers' duel to Little Chute-Kimberly Thursday night, struck out six and walked out. He allowed only one extra base hit, a double by Two Rivers pitcher Ron Brault.

Freedom got its only necessary run in the bottom of the first on Ron Herman's solo home run. In the same inning, Jim Van de Wetering walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch, and scored on Gene Die-drich's double to add an insurance run.

Other extra-base clouts included a homer by Don Ger-ris in the sixth with none on and a double by Don Vande Wetering.

Brault went the route, allow-ing eight hits, striking out three and walking two. The game was played in one hour, 37 min-utes.

Giants Shade Phillies On Kirkland's Homer

By the Associated Press

San Francisco beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, in 14 innings on a homer by Willie Kirkland Sunday.

The Giants also led their second game, 1-0, when it was suspended in the sixth by the Philadelphia Sunday curfew. The game will be completed later.

San Francisco pulled within 1½ games of Milwaukee with the win.

Cincinnati split with Chicago, winning the first on Gus Bell's grand-slam homer 6-2. The Cubs staged a three-run rally in the ninth to take the second game 8-6.

Steve Bilko and Johnny Klippstein, two recently acquired Los Angeles Dodgers, helped the cellar team to win a double-header from Pitts-burgh 4-1 and 3-2. Klippstein's relief work saved the first game, in which two singles by Dick Gray played a prominent part. Bilko's 10th-inning pinch single scored Joe Pignatano from second base for the second decision.

Willie Mays rejoined the Giants but it was Kirkland, just recalled Saturday from Phoenix, who hit the big blow. Kirkland's homer broke up a tight relief battle between Johnny Antonelli and Ray Sem-proch.

The Dodgers showed tight defensive play while the Pirates made two costly errors in the first game, in which Bob Friend was chased for the first time in his career for arguing umpire Vic Delmore's calling on balls and strikes. After Bell's homer won the

for the round trippers, to give the Menashans a 6-2 margin.

Menasha put the game on ice with a pair of tallies in the sixth and three more in the eighth. Over 400 fans watched the Chuters strand 14 men on the bases as the Macs were brilliant in the field, coming up with some sparkling outfield grabs.

LC-K took a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Floyd Hammen walked and moved to second as Rog Vander Wyst beat out a bunt. Hammen and Vander Wyst then pulled the double steal and Hammen scored as Jim Nurschl grounded out.

Vander Wyst stole home under Mort Drury's high pitch for the second score.

Drury settled down, and although he was in trouble nearly every inning, his mates backed him up with an air tight defense. Drury gave up eight hits, struck out three and walked seven.

For LC-K, Al Harke pitched the first five innings. Clete Wynboom fired the next two, Bob Mehler toiled in the eighth and Hank Peerenboom took off his catching duds to pitch the ninth. The LC-K hurlers were nixed for 13 safeties in all.

The Macs scored one in the second and another in the third to tie the count at 2-2. The two homers boosted the total to 6-2 and in the sixth two more scored when Koslowski doubled, Ed Konetzke walked, Darold Eg-gert singled home one run and Massey the other.

The three in the eighth came on walks to Koslowski and Drury, another hit by Ed Konetzke, an infield out and a 1-bagger by Massey.

Lindberg Wins Fox Cities Golf Tourney

Bridgewood course with razor-sharp irons and carved out a shimmering 70—the leading competitive round of his career.

Lindberg was out in par 36 Saturday and back in a sizzling 2-better-than-par 34. Only a failure to drop a pair of under-2 putts set up by his deadly iron play prevented Lindberg from scoring even better.

One Over Par
Sunday, Lindberg fired a get-away 36, only one over par. Though he had to settle for an incoming 39—which included a double bogey 6 and No. 14—the new champ had enough elbow room to coast home.

Menasha's Tom Rohde, representing Bridgewood, was another of the tourney surprises. Rohde tied Lindberg for the first-day lead with a sparkling 34-36-70. Playing BDM for the first time in his career Sunday, the young linksman shot an outgoing 37 to stay in the thick of the running.

But, in the home stretch Rohde ran into sand trap trouble and several 3-putt greens and wound up with a 44. He still finished sixth, however, in an unexpectedly good showing.

Withstands Pressure
Ferrel, who has just finished his junior year at Appleton High school, fired away with the know-how and consistency of a veteran. He pumped consecutive nines of 36-37-38.

Enroute to his tourney-opening par on Bridgewood's front nine, Ferrel used only 10 putts. His first-day 73 included several penalty strokes. Sunday, Ferrel withstood the pressure normally exerted on the leaders with a 75, one of the three best final-day scores posted.

A record tourney throng of 98 contestants teed off in Saturday's round, and all but one of them played the concluding 18 holes Sunday.

The weather, though somewhat less than ideal, was perhaps the best of the five tourneys to date. Precipitation—in small amounts—was limited to the first 20 minutes of Saturday's play and the final five minutes of Sunday's action. A fairly strong wind proved a problem for many of the players Saturday. Sunday's play was run off on a cool, predominantly overcast day.

No. 9 Proves Toughie

The thorniest hole at Bridgewood proved to be No. 9. Though it doglegs sharply to the right, the hole is a reasonably sure par 5 for a good golfer—providing he plays it conservatively. Many of the players elected to live dangerously by cross-cutting the trees and fences and going for a birdie. The net results were ballooning scores, relatively few pars and only a single birdie.

Ridgeway's Harley Loker—who tied for eighth place with a 2-day card of 154—registered the "bird" on 9. He was close to the green in 2, chipped to within 8 feet and dropped the putt.

Rhode and Ridgeway's Elmer Selig cut the fanciest figures on Bridgewood's front nine—identical 34s. Muni's "Ham" Baldock carded a 1-under-par 35. Even par 36s for that span came off the clubs of Ridgeway's Ed Verbrick, Muni's John Hurley, Lindberg, Ferrel, Bridgewood's Rich O'Brien and Fox Valley's Richard Quella.

Martin's 33 showed the way on Bridgewood's back 9. He cannoned a goodly quota of long putts on his way to three birds and six pars.

2 Get Eagles
Other leading back-9 scores were Lindberg's 34 and par 36s by Menasha North Shore's Tom Zeuthen and Ridgeway's Charlie Steingraber.

The best Saturday 18-hole scores were 70s by Lindberg and Rhode; a 71 by Martin, a 78 by Ferrel; a 74 by Bland; and 75s by Syl Bayer, Quella, Loker, BDM's Jim McDonald, Steingraber, Muni's Bill Tordor and Ridgeway's Gary Knoke.

Baldock and Zeuthen authored the lone eagles. Baldock got his on the par 5, 515-yard fourth when his second wood shot inched past the cub, and he tapped the next one in. Zeuthen got his 3 on the 530-yard fourteenth. He was on with two woods and then dropped a 15-footer.

force the beautiful but dangerous BDM to surrender a par 35 for either nine. Strutz and Lindberg came close on the front portion with 36s. Loker, Ferrel and Rhode produced 37s.

On the back nine, "1-over" 36s by Hayes and Bland showed the way. Jack Williams, Chuck Bayer and Strutz fired 37s.

Only 15 golfers were able to crack 80 at BDM. Runnerup to Strutz for the best performance Sunday was John Hayes. The BDM stylist, who turned in an unusual (for him) 82 in his first whack at Bridgewood Saturday whipped out a businesslike 74 Sunday.

Two Strokes Better
Other 80-breakers at BDM were Ferrel and Lindberg, 75s; Bland and Chuck Bayer, 76; Ridgeway's Herb Stinski, Muni's Don Sprague and O'Brien, 77; Baldock and Muni's Ruben Demand, 78; Loker, Muni's Art Nielsen, Martin and Bridgewood's Joe Jacobs, 79.

Lindberg's 145 total betters the previous low 36-hole score by two blows. In 1954, Stinski and Steingraber tied with 147, with Stinski winning in a play-off. It was the only tourney victory for a non-BDM golfer. Since then, Don Jabas, Strutz (twice) and Lindberg have taken top honors.

Merchandise awards went to the 21 low scorers.

Tourney scores not previously listed are:

160—Laymon Wanser, Muni; Russ Torgeson, Fox Valley; Art Nielsen, Muni; Al Berenwald, Muni; 161—Ed Verbrick, Ridgeway; O'Brien, Fox Valley; Tom Zeuthen, North Shore; Elmer Selig, Ridgeway; Wayne Hull, Fox Valley; 162—Joe Jacobs, Bridgewood; Syl Bayer, Muni; Jack Chagnon, Muni; Bill Tordor, Muni; 163—Bill Wood, Muni; Harold Kloss, Bridgewood; Pete Murphy, Ridgeway; Bob Wahlers, Fox Valley; John Marling, BDM; 165—Bob Yakes, Ridgeway; Gerald Bayer, Muni; Bob Geenen, Muni; Joe Koller, Ridgeway; Bill Daniel, Riverview; Bill McGraw, Riverview; Howard Bowers, Muni; 166—Ralph Sell, Jr., Ridgeway; John Andrejick, Fox Valley; Gary Kriech, Muni; Jerry Friesen, Bridgewood; Niswonger, Fox Valley; 167—Lloyd Lathrop, Bridgewood; 168—Mac Cammack, Ridgeway; Ron Vandenberg, Fox Valley; Wayne Welch, Fox Valley; Ted Barnes, Bridgewood; Larry Booth, Muni; John Hurley, Muni; 169—Dan Steinberg, Jr., BDM; Mike Smock, Muni; 170—John Steudel, Muni; Dave Wittwer, Muni; H. The losers fought back in the eighth inning with a 3-run uprising. Ray Tisler opened with a hard double and Harold Edinger followed with a long homer. Into Final Round

Flint, Mich. — It has been two years since Ted Kroll reaped the biggest payoff in the history of golf but the compact little veteran from Sarasota, Fla., is back knocking on the victory door again.

He carried a 2-stroke lead into today's final round of the $52,000 Flint open.

Tommy Bolt, the fellow the 39-year-old Kroll unseated in Sunday's third round, said he was glad to be out of the lead for the first time in six competitive rounds.

Kroll seized the lead from Bolt with a 3-under-par 69 while the U. S. Open champion was recording his second par.

Kroll's 4-hole total was 211, two strokes better than Bolt and Jack Fleck. Rochester, Mich. Fleck fired a 69 yesterday.

Trailing Fleck and Bolt by one stroke were Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C., and Bill Casper, Jr., Apple Valley, Calif. Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif., was even with par at 216.

before Gail Harris singled in the seventh.

The second-place Kansas City Athletics topped Boston again, 2-1, with the help of a game-saving catch by Hector Lopez on a drive by Jackie Jensen. Jack Urban outpitched Tom Brewer in a tight battle.

Cleveland broke out of a 4-game losing streak by taking a pair from Washington, 4-3 and 1-0. "Minnie" Minoso hit a home run in each game, deciding the second in favor of Jim Grant over Hal Griggs.

Baltimore climbed out of the cellar when Billy O'Dell turned in a 6-hit shutout of Chicago, 2-0, his eighth victory.

The Yanks knocked out Billy Hoelt in the first inning when they scored six and went on another 6-run binge in the eighth against Herb Moford and Vito Valentini. Gil McDougald had two doubles and a pair of singles, Tony Kubek three singles and Elston Howard a 2-run homer and a double.

At Kansas City Lopez dashed into right center to snare Jensen's drive in the eighth with Pete Runnels on third base and the score tied. Lopez's single scored the winning run in the last of the eighth, after Preston Ward and Bob Cerv singled.

Cleveland came up with three runs in the fifth inning to win the opener for Ray Narleski, his ninth, although Don Mossi finished up. Vic Power and Woody Held drove in the three runs. Minoso's eleventh home of the year in the sixth inning ruined Griggs' 4-hit job in the second game.

Cornell Wins Fourth Straight IRA Crown

Syracuse, N. Y. — The Cornell dynasty goes on in rowing.

Opposition coaches thought the Big Red were dead in 1958. Now, after Cornell's sweep of the fifty-seventh Intercollegiate Rowing association championships on Onondaga lake last Saturday, they were wondering how the men from Cayuga's waters are going to be stopped in 1959.

Cornell Coach Stork Sanford, with a record — tying four straight IRA varsity titles to his credit, will have a horde of eager, able and experienced galley-men back next spring.

The Big Red varsity, which hadn't won a meet all spring, grabbed the lead from fast-starting but quick-fading Massachusetts Institute of Technology shortly after the mile mark of the 3-mile race was passed.

Pennsylvania, the slight favorite in the varsity, disappointed with its sixth place finish Syracuse was third, California fourth, Princeton fifth, Dartmouth seventh, Wisconsin eighth, MIT ninth and Columbus tenth.

Althea Seeks Revenge Against Christine Truman

Wimbledon — "Make no mistake," said Althea Gibson of New York "I shall win the next time I play Christine Truman. That's all I've got to say. I shall win."

Miss Gibson was giving a post-time message as the stars lined up for the biggest tennis show on earth—the 72nd Wimbledon championship opening today.

The 1957 Wimbledon women's champion appeared completely unshaken by her Wightman cup defeat nine days ago at the hands of the gangling Miss Truman, who at 17 is Britain's brightest tennis prospect.

Miss Gibson is seeded No. 1, Miss Truman No. 2.

Today's opening program consisted of 64 men's singles matches.

Ashley Cooper, favorite for the men's title, had the honor of opening the tournament on the ivy clad center court. He was expected to walk off court some 30 minutes later the victor over Geoff Owen, a little known English player.

Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, is America's only seed for the men's singles.

6 in Court After Teenage Beer Party

Store Owners, Buyers Charged After Fracas in Center Swamp

Three beer depot owners and three youths appeared in municipal court today as the aftermath of a teenage beer party outside the city June 7.

The party, police said, involved at least 14 youngsters and apparently was held at the end of a town road in Center swamp. Police said the youngsters indicated the location was a popular one for teenage beer parties.

Two of the owners denied charges of allowing 18-year-olds in their places of business and their cases were deferred until Dist. Atty. George Gensch gets an attorney general's ruling on the state law applying to package stores and sales to youths in the 18 to 21 age bracket. One other case is pending on this question.

Deny Charge

Owners denying the charge were Emery Wirtz, operator of the Wirtz Beer and Liquor Depot, 510 W. Wisconsin avenue, and Donald E. Miller, operator of the Miller Beer and Liquor Depot, 300 N. Richmond street. Neither was required to post bond.

Admitting sale of beer to a 17-year-old was Harvey Kuttner, operator of Kuttner's Beverage Mart, 102 E. Wisconsin avenue. He was fined $35.

The boy who bought beer from him, Dennis C. Kickland, 17, 918 E. Frances street, was fined $35 for furnishing beer to minors.

License Revoked

Jerry R. Seidler, 18, 114 E. Byrd street was fined $35 for furnishing minors beer and $35 for having beer in his car while a 17-year-old was a passenger. Seidler's driver's license was revoked for 60 days on the latter charge.

James W. Meyers, 17, 1201 N. Nevada court, was fined $35 and his driver's license was revoked for 30 days for having beer in a car in which two 16-year-old boys and two 17-year-old boys were passengers.

Police said all the purchases, transportation of beer and giving beer to minors involved the same party in Center swamp.

They said extensive investigation indicated that the youths were mostly under 18 and a statement from one girl indicated she had been given and had drunk three quarts of beer. Police said a large quantity of beer was consumed at the party and police confiscated some of the remainder during their investigation.

Argentine Chief Sends Note to Ike

The letter was presented as Ambassador Barros presented his credentials to Eisenhower. The ambassador said Eisenhower is the only one authorized to release the contents of the letter.

5 Injured in 2-Car, Trailer Collision on 45

Five persons, four of them children, were slightly hurt Sunday afternoon in a 3-car smash on Highway 45 about half a mile north of Highway 10.

A car driven by Mrs. Ann Gottlieb, 21, Chicago, attempted to pass a car driven by Reinhardt Alfertig, 41, 906 Adams street, Neenah, on a hill, County Policeman William Block, Jr., said. At the crest of the hill, Mrs. Gottlieb saw a car approaching from the north, driven by Russell Peotter, 35, 1506 W. Packard street, and attempted to turn back into her lane, striking a trailer pulled by the Alfertig car.

The impact spun the Alfertig car around and tore the trailer loose. The Alfertig car then was hit by the Peotter car, Block said.

Taken to Appleton Memorial hospital by Larry's ambulance were Mrs. Dorothy Peotter and the couple's children, Barbara, 11, Thomas, 14, Christy, 8, and Sandy, 7.

Alfred Van Camp, route 2, Appleton, received bruises Saturday when he lost control of a farm tractor he was driving on Highway 47 about two miles north of Highway 41. ## Landlady Admits Bricking Up Minister Tenant Backfired Fondi, Italy — The Catholic landlady who bricked up her Protestant minister tenant said with a sigh today that maybe her offensive had backfired.

But Mrs. Gemma Rasile said she still was not finished with the Rev. Umberto Righetti, an evangelist of the First Church of Christ. The minister rents two second-floor rooms from Mrs. Rasile and uses them as his residence and church. The Rasile said, the evangelist now gathered in the street below. Then Mrs. Rasile relented and had the door unbricked. The minister resumed services in his rooms.

For three days the Rev. Mr. Righetti hauled his groceries up through his window in a bucket and preached to his followers gathered in the street below. Then Mrs. Rasile relented and had the door unbricked. The minister resumed services in his rooms.

More Followers Because of the publicity, Mrs. Rasile said, the evangelist now has "quite a few more followers than before."

"However, I believe he has increased his flock with only armed with court permission, temporary followers who will she had bricklayers seal up the leave him when the sensation police said.

Elderly Nun Missing In Czechoslovakia

Washington — The state department is trying to locate a 76-year-old Chicago nun who disappeared on a train ride through communist Czechoslovakia 10 days ago.

Instructions were being sent today to the U.S. embassies at Warsaw, Prague, Vienna and Rome to seek information which might throw light on the mystery.

The nun was identified as Sister Cajenta, whose non-secular name is Mary Gorski. She is a member of the Roman Catholic resurrection order attached to the order's nursery in Chicago.

Polish border guards reported she was not on the train when it entered Poland.

Dallas — Downpours ranging up to nearly 7 inches brought new flood threats to south Texas today as a mass of cold air set off thundershowers over most of the state.

Nine persons were rescued by firemen and police from flooded streets at San Antonio after a violent storm dumped 4.50 inches on the city.

Driving rains and winds up to 80 miles per hour carved a path 10 miles long and several miles wide through croplands near Range, 60 miles southeast of San Antonio. Trees were uprooted by the storm, which dumped 3.50 inches of rain in the area.

The heaviest rainfall — 6.25 inches — was at Orange but caused no appreciable damage. Another heavy downpour of 5.50 inches fell near Leakey sending the west prong of the Frio river on a 7-foot rise.

White Relates Tale Of 2 Washingtons

Home Town Atmosphere, Sense of History Combine in One City

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington—Washington is a city with a clear identity and no single identity at all. There is a first Washington and a second Washington and the second is a world away from the first.

Though two million people live in its metropolitan area, the first Washington is basically a southern town full of quiet, tree-lined streets and shouting children. The native accent is a rolling mixture of Virginia and Maryland, with Virginia considerably the stronger.

This Washington is automatically, placidly and indestructibly home-town in atmosphere. It is a place where third-generation housewives use third-generation laundries and bakeries and would find any change unthinkable. It is a place where high school commencements remain truly important. It is a place where the home-town will look up on the chairman of joint chiefs of staff, say, not as one of the earth's most powerful military figures but as a nice man who does his share toward keeping the neighborhood mowed and weeded.

1-Industry Town
In this human, day by day sense, Washington could not possibly be more different from London, Paris, Berlin, Mexico City or Rio de Janeiro. Too, those are great cities in which the business of national government, for all its immensity, is still only one small pebble in a very large lake.

In Washington, the business of government is like a vast rock over-filling a very small pond. This is a 1-industry town—or, as its detractors sometimes say, a company town. But though government is uniquely the business of this town, the people go on about their own affairs actually much as they did in the Texas village where this correspondent was born.

The sum of the parts of Washington amounts to what linescapably is grand bureaucracy. It is nevertheless true the parts themselves are not bureaucratic at all.

The simplest way, perhaps, to sum up this first Washington, if a personal reference may be forgiven in a man who has worked, fairly long or briefly, on five continents, is this: It is a good place to come home to—even when summer is shimmering around the Washington monument.

Second City
The second Washington requires a totally different understanding. This is Washington, the power center for half the peoples of the universe, the erstwhile steamy town on the Potomac that has become hundreds of acres of massive stone and steel.

From these packed acres to those tree-lined streets of the first Washington is perhaps 15 minutes by automobile. But across this small space there is an infinity of change in mood and tone.

The second Washington, superimposed as it is on the first Washington, is then itself six times subdivided, in meaning if not in literal fact. For the second Washington has six faces, six centers of the pump and the power—and occasionally the glory, too.

Each has its special scent

Man Will Speak on Industrial Development

Little Chute—R. J. Colbert, Madison, will be speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at McCabe's restaurant at 8:15 this evening.

Following the dinner-meeting the club will go to the village hall where a public meeting will be held with Colbert in charge. He will discuss community development regarding industry.

and atmosphere. Each endlessly sends through this calm community an often unheard and unsensed thrust of the urgency of history.

This column intends hereafter to describe these six faces of official Washington, one at a time and once a week.

12 Year Old Boy Admits Creating False Alarms

Combined Locks—Investigation by police has revealed that a 12 year old Combined Locks boy was responsible for the two false ambulance runs and a false fire alarm call here.

Police said the youth admitted the offenses Saturday. He was released to the custody of his parents.

Police checked the youth when it was reported he was in the vicinity when the false fire alarm was turned in Thursday morning.

Restitution for the ambulance runs has been made by the boy's parents. Action on the fire call is still pending.

'Breakfast Club' Celebrates 25th Anniversary on June 23

BY DON McNEILL

New York—(AP)—Suddenly it's 1958. You shake off the feeling that you're a fossil and take a tender look back through the years. Was it in 1933 that a hungry, depression-battered young radio announcer—myself—started a program called "Breakfast Club?"

So long ago and yet so near in my memory. Those early years were marvelous but trying. "Who would want to get out of bed to hear a program at 8 in the morning?" the cynics said.

And for six years we couldn't get a sponsor. We always bless the ABC radio network for staying with us through that period. It was the American housewife who discovered us and now several millions of them join us each morning.

25th Anniversary
Today "Breakfast Club" celebrates its 25th anniversary on the air. Through the 1930s and 40s, radio broadcast some imperishable events. That same period brought some of the most entertaining people to our program. Fibber McGee and Molly, Alice Lon, now with the Lawrence Welk show, Johnny Desmond who is currently featured on Broadway in "Say, Day Darling," Johnny Johnston and many others all started on the show.

So many fine artists have visited with us at the "Breakfast Club" through the years. People like Danny Kaye, Gary Cooper, Ginger Rogers, Jerry Lewis, James Stewart, Bob Hope, Lucy and Desi are a few of the many personalities who enlivened things on our morning broadcasts.

Fran Allison, who achieved special fame with "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," was "Aunt Fanny" on our 1937 program and has been with us since then. Five of our performers on "Breakfast Club" have been with us for 20 years.

Memories Intrude
Memories intrude upon you at a time like this. There were war bond rallies, appearances at President Roosevelt's birthday ball, Madison Square Garden, entertaining troops at the training camps and so many crowded events during those years. Through it all, "Breakfast Club" kept the same informal format it has retained to this day. We've heard from over 5 million listeners in our 25 years of broadcasting. More than 3 million have attended the broadcasts.

So, here it is 1958 with much to be grateful for. Prayer time on "Breakfast Club" is our way of giving thanks each day for all that has gone on and for all that is to be.

We commissioned a painting by Artist Ben Stahl to commemorate our 25th anniversary which we call "Moment of Silent Prayer."

This painting, which will be unveiled on our silver anniversary broadcast, will, we hope, remind those who see it of the thought expressed each day on "Breakfast Club"—"Each in his own words, each in his own way, for a world united in peace, let us bow our heads and pray."

Hollywood TV Station Rehires Oscar Levant

BY JINGO

Oscar Levant returns tonight to the Hollywood television show from which he was fired Saturday for antagonizing a sponsor.

The pianist-wit was rehired less than 24 hours after he had been told his Monday-Wednesday night show had been cancelled.

"Oscar and I discussed our problem and he promised to make every effort to conform to some, at least, of the rules of broadcasting," said Al Flanagan, KCOP station manager.

The station pulled the program out from under Levant after he badgered a beauty queen who tried, and failed, to deliver a commercial on the Friday show. Levant also had unkind remarks for the sponsor and two rival television stations.

Levant's trouble, Flanagan said, stems from "a sickness of mind, not a physical sickness, so he ought to be able to control its extent and severity."

"I'll admit I'm sick," Levant said. "I've always been sick. I'm a very neurotic man."

"But my sickness gives me deep insight and makes me a better entertainer," added Levant, who plays the piano, chain-smokes and dabbles in observations and insults on the show.

Levant said he patched things up with the sponsor when he dropped in for a talk "dressed in somber garments and in a genuflecting position."

Levant said he had offers from other stations, but he came back to his old stamping grounds because:

"They would have gone into inevitable decline and then obscurity. I couldn't stand that. I'm a nice person."

There has been talk Levant would bring the program to network TV so you can take the publicity with salt.

Jingo's Jewels: Leslie Nielsen has replaced Barry Sullivan as star of Thursday night's "Climax" program "Cabin B-13," a suspense-filled drama of mystery and intrigue set on an ocean liner. "Climax," by the way, is finished as of Thursday. The show started Sept. 30, 1954. It took 325 people, putting in 4,500 man-hours, to bring you each story. . . . WFRV-TV and WSAU-TV are two of six state stations which will carry "Target," the Adolph Menjou series, at 8:30 Tuesday nights starting Sept. 16.

NBC radio's "Bell Telephone Hour" leaves the air June 30 after 18 years. . . . Cowboy Star Richard Boone, of "Have Gun, Will Travel," talking straight from the pocketbook, makes this understandable observation: "There's something about cowboys and good western stories that make good entertainment." . . . Lynn Porter, 10, Mason City, Iowa, a completely unknown, inexperienced boy, has been signed for the plum role in the touring company of the Broadway smash, "Music Man." . . . ## Share Prices Lose Ground

Leading Issues Down Fractions to Point In Moderate Trade

New York —(U.P.)— Industrials, took losses as the stock market declined in moderate trading early this afternoon. Key stocks dropped from fractions to about a point.

Steels, motors, chemicals, oils and nonferrous metals were mainly in the downside. Rails were narrowly mixed. Utilities edged off irregularly. Airlines presented a string of small plus signs as earnings were reported improved.

American Motors was actively traded and down around a point.

The market was backgrounded by uncertainties about the steel price as well as prospects for a summer downturn in production of steel; and also by a reported decline in machine tool orders.

Gains of about a point were made by Lorillard, Goodyear and Standard Packaging. American Tobacco, Boeing and Schenley made fractional gains. United Air Lines and Eastern were firm.

U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet were down about a point each while Republic Steel and Bethlehem lost fractions. Major automotive stocks showed little change. A loss of about a point by Anaconda and a good-sized fraction by Phelps Dodge highlighted the metals. Kennecott, International Nickel and American Smelting showed scant change.

Standard Oil N. J. dropped about a point. Texas Co. and Royal Dutch lost fractions.

U. S. government bonds drifted lower in quiet dealings, over the counter.

the Republican national committee, will be interviewed about 1960 prospects at 6:35 tonight over Mutual radio stations (WBAY in this area).

The television board of the National Association of Broadcasters has banned the portrayal of physicians, dentists and nurses in advertising by other than doctors, dentists and nurses. Out you go, John Reed King. . . . The board also turned down the so-called subliminal perception process—you see it, but you don't. . . . A western thing called "Buckskin," replaces Tennessee Ernie Ford for the summer. . . . C. B. DeMille says he'll make "Barabab," all about the thief Jesus replaced on the cross, as his next movie.

Lawrence Says:

President Won't Crucify Adams By Firing Him

Case Proves Innocent Man Can be Convicted By Public Opinion

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Sherman Adams does not intend to resign—and President Eisenhower will not crucify him by asking him to resign.

Adams is convinced he has violated no law and exerted no improper influence. The president is also convinced that this is a fact.

Looking back over what happened—and hindsight is always better than foresight—if the presidential aide had for one moment ever suspected that his personal friendship of 15 years with Bernard Goldfine, wool manufacturer, and the exchange of gifts would be distorted into a smear scandal, no such gifts would have been accepted.

But, unfortunately, because day-by-day newspaper accounts are not pieced together carefully by the average person and politicians are quick to vent their hates through condemnatory statements, a man can be convicted by public opinion of a "crime" he didn't commit. The big question is: What is the duty of the press in such circumstances? Isn't it to present all the evidence and all the facts of law and prevent an innocent man from being wrongly stigmatized for life?

Has Read Record
This correspondent has read the record and has also noted the contents of the important statement issued over the weekend by Edward F. Howrey, former chairman of the Federal Trade commission. The conclusions which this writer reaches after such an examination are as follows:

1. Not a scintilla of evidence exists to prove that any improper influence was exerted or that a violation of law was committed by Sherman Adams.

2. The decisions reached by the Federal Trade commission in handling the cases involving Goldfine were made by the "career" officials who hold office from one administration to the other without regard to political change. Neither they nor any other members of the commission ever knew that Chairman Howrey had received an inquiry from Sherman Adams about the Goldfine cases.

3. Notable in support of the facts as dated is the testimony of Acting Chairman Robert Secrest, former Democratic congressman from Ohio for 16 years.

4. No "regulation" of the commission was violated when Howrey sent a memorandum of information to Adams in response to his inquiry. It has been the commission's "policy" to withhold the name of a company or individual making a complaint about an unfair trade practice. In this instance the name of the complainant was already known to the defendant company through open disclosure by the opposing attorney. In fact, the names of the contending parties in the dispute were well known in the woolen industry because other woolen mills were vitally interested in any changes in labeling woollens that might be decided on. Some members of congress from wool states were also aware of the parties to the controversy.

Not New Information
5. Howrey's memorandum to Adams pointed out that the case could be settled by "voluntary compliance" in accordance with custom. But this was no new or confidential information. The defendant company already had this knowledge in connection with its previous conferences with the federal trade commission, which had been trying to conclude the case by the same method. The annual report of the commission reveals that there were 6,399 cases of questioned practices in the woolen industry which were settled that year in the same way.

6. No favored treatment was given the defendant company. In the first instance, the Goldfine company complied voluntarily. In the second instance, the customary remedy—the usual "cease and desist" order—decried the most effective by the commission's top staff, was applied and the defendant complied with the law governing such order.

7. As for the allegations about a case before the Securities and Exchange commission in which Goldfine's company was accused of failing to file some annual reports, Sherman Adams himself made no contact with the commission. A routine inquiry was made by a member of the White House staff—the special counsel—and he advised Adams that no further hemently denounced "guilt by steps should be taken by him, association" and "guilt by in-Adams dropped the matter. He would also have The Goldfine company was la-ter given the customary penal-ty for failing to file its report.

Bottom of Smear
What's at the bottom of the whole smear? It appears that a personal feud by enemies of Adams started it all, and the cruelties of politics resulted in a ghoulish spree before a house investigating committee which flagrantly violated a house resolution about the proper behavior of its investigating commit-tees.

It's perhaps too bad that Sherman Adams isn't a com-munist or a defender of com-munist "beliefs." He would today have the protective com-ments of many of those so-called "liberals" who have ve-

Back Pains Not Only Sign Of Infection of Kidneys

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

Today I'd like to explode a couple of common notions about kidney trouble—and also to offer some general ideas that are worth remembering. A let-ter from Mrs. F.W. is the im-mediate cause. Back pain, from that cause, of today's re-

Dr. Molner marks, but I'm including the-answers to quite a few other letters on the same topic.

The kidneys are particularly vulnerable to infection—true also, of course, or several other some general areas of the body.

The ideas that need explod-ing are that kidney trouble is bering. A let- always indicated by back pain. This isn't necessarily true. It isn't even true in most cases. Back pain, from that cause, isn't too common. And that kid-ney stones are the most frequent kidney trouble. This isn't true, either.

Mrs. F.W. thought her trou-ble might have been from some other cause, so she had a hys-terectomy. In any good hospital these days, there is so much checking before and after such operations that you can be sure they are not performed without adequate motive. There was a day when they were "fashiona-ble." That day has long since gone.

Factor of Pregnancy
So I'll say forthwith that Mrs. F.W. had good and sufficient reason for her hysterectomy. Her kidney trouble was a sepa-rate matter, although (she has had five children) pregnancy is known to contribute to kidney trouble sometimes.

Here, however, are the important thoughts to keep in mind. The kidneys are somewhat sub-ject to infection. The first thing to be done (and this has been done in Mrs. F.W.'s case) is to see whether stones, kinks or other obstructions are present. If so, treat them. If not, look for some germ (infection) that has taken root. Tuberculosis germs may be guilty. (The "acid fast" test is used to determine this. It is not a "cancer test.")

Next, it is necessary also, in persistent cases, to discover whether the guilty germ has become resistant to one or another of the antibiotics. This hap-pens. If one or several lose ef-fect, you must then search around for another form of treatment. As I said, back pain is neither a reliable nor common sign of kidney infection, or pyelone-phritis which is a term for pus from the kidneys. More usual signs are frequency of urina-tion, a burning type of pain during the process, and some-times otherwise unexplained fever.

Most of the above also applies to infection of the bladder. It is, of course, closely related, and the treatment is usually similar whether the infection is rooted in the kidneys or the bladder. The signs also will be similar. (Copyright, 1958)
